Intensive In-home Services Statewide Overview

Introduction

Intensive In-home Services (IIS) are designed to help families in crisis remain safely together through the enhancement of family capabilities. These families are strengthened, through intervention, by learning to nurture their children, improve their functioning, and gain support within their community. IIS are short-term, intensive, home-based, crisis intervention services for families who are at imminent risk of one or more children being placed in out-of-home care. Some of the problems addressed by IIS include issues of child abuse and neglect, substance abuse, family violence, mental illness, emotional disturbance, delinquent behavior, or other related circumstances. Although the goal of IIS is to prevent the removal of children, safety of the child is the primary concern and is continually assessed throughout IIS intervention. A recommendation for immediate removal is made at any point that a child's safety is determined at risk.

Intensive In-home Services are available statewide. Families are assigned one principle specialist who is responsible for spending eight to ten (and more if needed) hours per week in face-to-face contact with the family assisting them in gaining necessary family life skills and linkages to formal and informal resources.

The following report is based on an analysis of statewide data regarding children and families served with IIS during state fiscal year 2000 (July 1, 1999 - June 30, 2000).

Families and Children Accepted

Once a family is accepted for IIS, a specialist works with that family to prevent the removal of a child or children from the home. The children who are considered at-risk for out-of-home placement are identified as at-risk children. During FY 2000, the total number of families accepted in IIS was 1,685. The total number of children accepted into IIS from these families was 4,477. Seventy-seven percent (3,451) of the total number of children accepted were considered at-risk. On average, families accepted into IIS were comprised of 2.7 total children and 2 at-risk children (Appendix A).

Families and Children Not Accepted

A total of 1,304 families referred for IIS were not accepted during FY 2000 (Appendix A). In these families, 2,147 at-risk children referrals were not accepted (Appendix B).

•Reasons At-risk Children Referrals Not Accepted

Twenty-seven percent (571) of at-risk children were not accepted into IIS due to the lack of openings into the program. In these cases the children remained at home. The next most likely reason for non-acceptance was that there was no immediate likelihood of placement into alternative care (357), followed by the inability to assure the child's safety (325) and no opening in IIS with the child being placed into alternative care (297) (Appendix B).

Response Time

A family referred to IIS is first screened to determine the family's acceptance into the program. Once a family is accepted into IIS, an acceptance date is entered into the Intake Tracking System for that family and Intensive In-home Services begin. For the 1,685 families accepted into IIS, the average time between referral date to screen date was almost one day and the average time between screen date to acceptance date was less than one day. The total time between referral date to acceptance date averaged 1.4 days.

Outcomes

The goals of IIS include maintaining family permanency, improving child functioning, and keeping children safe. Possible measures of family permanency and improved child functioning would be to see if children entered DFS or DYS alternative care during or after IIS intervention. A possible measure of child safety would be to see if the child was a victim of a substantiated child abuse/neglect hotline during or after IIS intervention.

Children who exited IIS during FY 1999 were checked to see if they had entered DFS or DYS custody or if they were a victim of a substantiated child abuse/neglect hotline during IIS intervention or within 12 months of exiting IIS. FY 1999 exits were used to give all the children exiting enough time to see if the events had occurred.

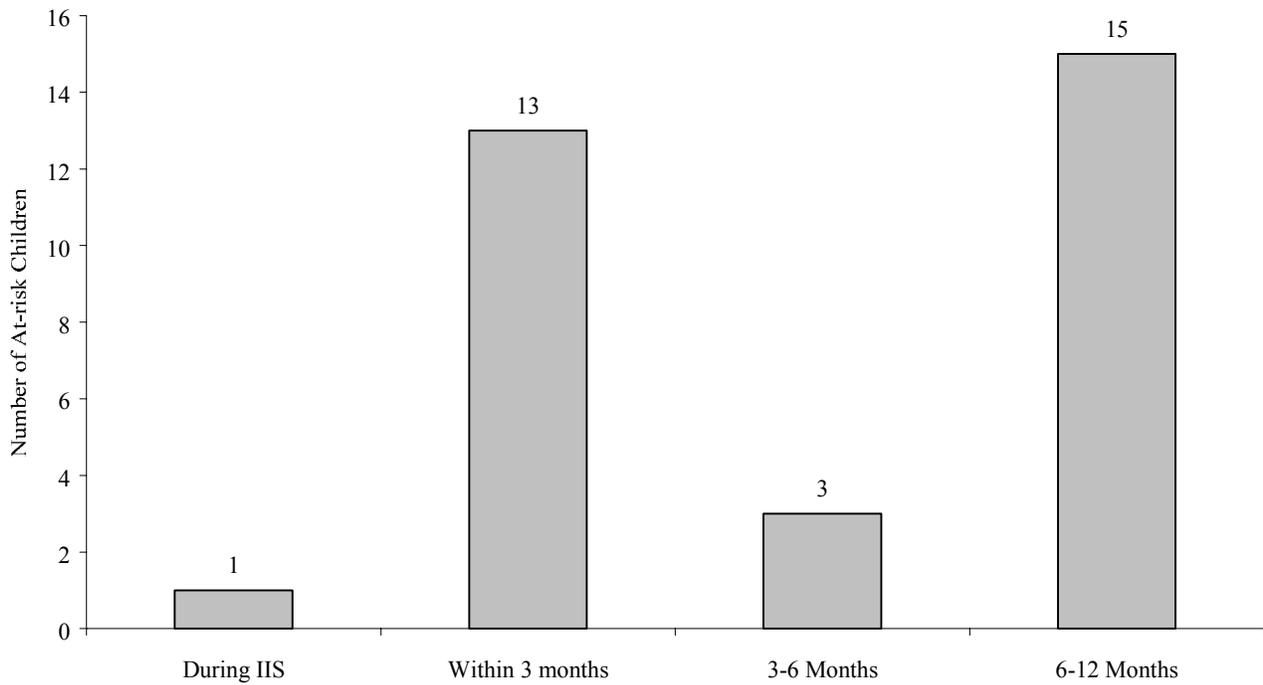

During FY 1999, 2,999 at-risk children exited IIS. Tracking those children for the 12 months following the start of their IIS intervention, 21% (640) entered DFS custody and one percent (32) entered DYS custody. Ten percent (297) of the children were reported as a victim, during that time, of a child abuse/neglect report concluded to be probable cause for child abuse/neglect.
